The filibuster over the omnibus war claims bill was brought to an end and the measure passed.

The House adopted a resolution suspending the rules for the remainder of the session. Under this measure debate may be limited to 40 minutes on any bill that may be brought up for consideration.

consideration. Consideration of the naval bill was begun in the afternoon.

Senate.

Feb. 21.-Senator Beveridge, of Indiana, spoke for over four hours in the Senate, attacking the right of Senator William Lorimer, of Illinois, to his seat in the Senate.

The Finance Committee of the Sen ate held hearings most of the day, listening to pretests against Canadian reciprocity. About a dozen State Granges declared that Canadian reciprocity would be detrimental to the in-terests of the farmers near the Canadian border. Representative A. P. Gardner, of Massachusetts, was given a hearing before the committee to protest against the proposed legislation as detrimental to the interests of New England fishermen.

House.

The House disposed of a number of important measures, among them the naval appropriation bill. This bill carries an authorization for two battle-ships and other additions to the Navy.

Feb. 22.-The feature of the Senate was a remarkable speech by Senator William Lorimer, of Illinois, in defense of his right to retain his seat in the Senate. It was a personal recital of the circumstances which led many Democrats to vote for him, and pos-sessed much of human interest to the most remarkable audience that has listened to a Senator's speech in many days.

The Senate then went into executive session to consider the Japanese treaty. The Senate Finance Committee continued its hearings in the morning on the Canadian reciprocity agreement. A. C. Hasting, of Niagara Falls, and Representative Swasey, of Maine, representing the paper and pulp mills, opposed the agreement Norris, of New York, spoke for the publishers and declared that unless the Canadian reciprocity legislation was passed the publishers of the country would be at the mercy of a merciless monopoly in the production of print paper.

Comrade Peter Kiene, Fourth and Main streets. Dubuque. Iowa, writes

The proceedings in the House were THE BATTLE OF CHATTANOOGA. Great Events.

At the dedication of the New York Monument in Point Park on Lookout Mountain, Nov. 15, 1910, Maj. W. J. Colburn, Commissioner and Secretary of the Chickamauga and Chattanooga National Military Park Commission, made a most interesting address on the battle of Chattanooga, which met with such warm acceptance by those who heard him that the address has been put in pamphlet form. Maj. Colburn resides at Chattanooga, and gives his constant personal attention to the work on the Park. He had an unusual military history. He calisted in April, 1861, in the 1st Wis., and then re-enlisted in the 1st Wis., and then re-enlisted in the 1st Wis. He has told his reminiscences in a graphic and vivid way. At the signal of three guns from Fort Negley the vast army started and swept resistlessly up the mountainside over the opposition of the Confederates. From there he also saw Sherman's men make their attack on Tunnel Hill. He was as astonished as all those around him to see. ished as all those around him to see the army scaling the mountainside in the face of the fire of 50 pieces of artil-lery. He describes his sensations as he saw our flags slowly climbing up the mountain until they were at the crest and the silence of the enemy's guns announced victory. His first duty was to ride forward and take charge of the Confederate batteries, when he saw many cannoneers lying dead beside their pieces. When he returned at 10 o'clock at night he was able to report to his chief that we had captured 40 pieces of artillery.

Uncle Sam and Mexico.

Editor National Tribune: Please tell us something about the part played by Uncle Sam at the close of the war in relation to the invasion of Mexico by the French. What, if anything, was done by Gen. Sheridan, when sent to the border, and what troops, Regulars or volunteers, went with him? I was one of the last year's crop of recruits, but think it required as much sand for a boy of 18 to enlist in 1864, after seeing his former companions and chums come home on crutches or with empty sleeves, as for anyone who enlisted under the first call.—F. E. Emery, 2d Me. Battery, Concord Junction, Mass.

The feeling at the close of the war Editor National Tribune: Please tell

The feeling at the close of the war was decidedly hostile to the occupation of Mexico by the French, and it look-ed as if war would result if the French did not get out of the country. Gen. Sheridan was sent to the Rio Grande, and the Fourth and Twenty-fifth Corps and a couple of divisions of cavalry sent to him. He demonstrated so along the Rio Grande as to scare the French back into the interior; and everything was getting ready for a forward movement to drive them out when Secre-tary Seward succeeded in persuading Louis Napoleon to leave Mexico without a fight.-Editor National Tribune

Senate.

Feb. 23.—Senator Beveridge occupied the floor in the Senate for nearly four hours in an address on the Lorimer case. He had not concluded at 5 o'clock, when the Senate went into executive session, and gave notice that he would resume his speech Friday immediately after the routine morning business. Efforts to get an agreement on a date for a vote on the forimer case failed, due to the objections of several Senators.

Senator Borah asked that the Senate sagree Friday to vote on the resolution for the popular election of Senators, but this was promptly objected to by Senator Heyburn, of Idaho.

After considering the Japanese treaty for more than two hours the Senator adjourned without acting upon it.

After Forty Years of Pains and Misery This Man Tells of His Complete Relief.

His Complete Relief.

I have been thinking it is my duty to write and let you know the effect of your "Gloria Tonic" on me. I am an old man, 84 years old, if I live to see next December, and had suffered untold misery from the rheumalism somewhere about 40 years, and I had tried a great many remedies in that time. Nothing did me any good until I read of your discovery, and it has entirely cured me. I wrote to you for a sample box of your "Gloria Tonic," and I took the tablets according to the directions and I have not had any rheumatism since, for which I cannot be thankful enough. It is about twelve months since I received your tablets, and I consider now that I am entirely cured. Dear sir, I give you the privilege of using this to your advantage any way you please.—Very truly yours, Henry Hurst, Calais Maine.

RESTORED THE USE OF HIS RIGHT ARM

I am only too pleased to let the public know the great permanent relief given me by your "Gloria Tonic." When I began using "Gloria Tonic." When I began using "Gloria Tonic." the doctor had been unable to give me the slightest relief and I had lost the use of my right hand and arm from rheumatism. I suffered the most terrible pain, being unable to find a comfortable position. I saw your advertisement, and as a last resort sent for a sample of "Gloria Torlic." The sample did so much good that I sent for some boxes of the medicine. Now I am entirely cured.—Very truly yours, Tom Hasell. No. 131 Cavanaugh St., Alpena, Mich.

This shows that the amount of starch yielded per acre by sweet potatoes is largely in excess of that yielded by cereals. The sweet potato also appears to have some advantage in this respect over the white potato, which is so largely used in Europe—the question of yield, cost of production, changes that may take place in storage, cost of manufacturing and duality the properties of ufacturing, and finally the properties of the starch itself.

In regard to yield we will say that in Osceola and many of the surround-ing Counties the estimate made of 200 bushels to the acre would be small. Three hundred, and even 350, bushels are frequently grown on a single acre, even in poor soil, in Florida. It is claim-ed that a given amount of starch is produced at a muchaless cost in sweet potatoes than in cereals and white po-atoes. However, in considering the
